64 REGULATORY & COMPLIANCE ALERT INFORMATION

GLBA and Regulation S-P require financial institutions, including broker/dealers,² to develop privacy policies with respect to consumer non-public information. Like other financial institutions, broker/dealers may not share nonpublic personal information of consumers with nonaffiliated third parties, except under limited exceptions, unless: (1) the broker/dealer provides notice of its privacy policies and practices; (2) the broker/dealer provides consumers with the ability to opt out of the sharing; and (3) the consumers do not opt out. Broker/dealers also must provide consumers who are customers with an initial privacy notice, and thereafter, annual privacy notices. Regulation S-P also requires broker/dealers to establish safeguards to protect the security and confidentiality of customer records and information.

Generally, Regulation S-P defines a "consumer" as an individual who obtains or has obtained a financial product or service from a financial institution that is to be used primarily for personal, family, or household purposes. Typically, a consumer has no further contact with the financial institution other than the one-time delivery of products or services. In contrast, Regulation S-P defines a "customer" as a consumer with which a financial institution expects to have or has established a continuing relationship.³

Below are Questions and Answers ("Q&As") that address some issues that may arise in determining the application of Regulation S-P. The answers expressed below are staff opinions only and have not been reviewed or endorsed by the Board of Directors of NASD Regulation, nor have they been approved by the SEC.

Regulation S-P: Questions & Answers

Q: Who must comply with Regulation S-P?

A: Title V of GLBA applies to all "financial institutions," which means "any institution the business of which is engaging in financial activities as described in section 4(k) of the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956." Under Section 124 of the Commodity Futures Modernization Act of 2000, it also means institutions subject to the jurisdiction of the Commodity Futures Trading Commission. For purposes of Regulation S-P, the SEC has determined that the law applies to all broker/dealers, investment companies, and investment advisers registered with the SEC. Accordingly, NASD Regulation believes that all member firms have to comply with some aspect of Regulation S-P.

Q: What must be done by broker/dealers?

A: (1) As of July 1, 2001, broker/dealers must have provided an initial notice (including the information on opt out rights required in Section 248.6 of Regulation S-P) to their existing customers. (See Section 248.4 of Regulation S-P, which provides that initial notices must be provided to those consumers who are the firms' existing customers.)
(2) In addition, broker/dealers must be prepared to present privacy policies to consumers (including new customers) and must be able to receive and maintain, if applicable, opt out notices from them. (See Section 248.18(b) of Regulation S-P.) Consumers must be given a reasonable means and a reasonable amount of time to opt out of sharing with nonaffiliated third parties other than those sharing arrangements permitted by an exception.

(3) Every broker/dealer also must have adopted policies and procedures that address administrative, technical, and physical safeguards for the protection of the records and information of consumers who are customers of the broker/dealers. (See Section 248.30 of Regulation S-P.) Member firms are encouraged to read SEC Release No. 34-42974 to determine whether there are any other aspects of Regulation S-P that may apply to their activities.

Q: Does Regulation S-P apply to a broker/dealer that does not have affiliates and does not intend to disclose nonpublic personal information to nonaffiliated third parties outside of the limited exceptions provided for under Regulation S-P (e.g., service providers or joint marketing arrangements)?

A: Yes. Under the circumstances described, a broker/dealer's responsibilities include the following: (1) provide an initial notice to each new customer as of July 1, 2001;⁴ (2) provide an annual notice to each customer during the continuation of the customer relationship; and (3) create appropriate internal control systems, including the maintenance of copies of the notices provided to consumers and documentation in customer files showing compliance, and ensure appropriate supervision over compliance with Regulation S-P. If the firm does not share information of non-customer consumers with nonaffiliated third parties outside of the exceptions provided in Sections 248.14⁵ or 248.15⁶ of Regulation S-P, then the firm is not required to provide initial and opt out notices before disclosing nonpublic personal information about its non-customer consumers to nonaffiliated third parties. An initial notice, but not an opt out notice, would be required for disclosures made under Section 248.13⁷ of Regulation S-P. If in the future, however, the firm decides to share the nonpublic personal information of non-customer consumers with nonaffiliated third parties outside of the limited exceptions, then the firm must provide the consumers with initial and opt out notices as appropriate before sharing the information.

Q: If a firm does not have affiliates and does not intend to share nonpublic personal information with nonaffiliated third parties outside of the exceptions provided in Sections 248.14 and 248.15 of Regulation S-P, what types of information should be included in the firm's initial and annual notices?

A: Generally, these notices must include: (1) a statement that the firm does not disclose, and does not wish to reserve the right to disclose, nonpublic personal information to affiliates or nonaffiliated third parties, except to non-affiliated parties as authorized by law; (2) the categories of nonpublic personal information that a broker/dealer collects; and (3) the broker/dealer's policies and practices with respect to protecting the confidentiality and security of nonpublic financial information.

Q: Are there sample clauses that a broker/dealer can use to draft its privacy notices?

A: Yes. Appendix A to Regulation S-P contains sample clauses that may be used by broker/dealers and their affiliated companies in the drafting of privacy notices. However, use of the sample clauses that have been provided by the SEC in its Release will not be considered a safe harbor for firms. Whether compliance with an example or sample clause constitutes compliance with Regulation S-P depends on the facts and circumstances of each individual situation.

Q: May a clearing broker provide a joint privacy notice with an introducing broker for which it clears on a fully disclosed basis?

A: Yes. For purposes of Regulation S-P, an introducing firm and a clearing firm are considered to have a separate and independent customer relationship with regard to any particular customer, and as such, both firms are required to provide notices to the customer. Section 248.9(f) of Regulation S-P, however, permits the introducing firm and the clearing firm to send a joint notice provided that the privacy notice is accurate with respect to each entities' privacy policies and that the notice clearly indicates it is from both firms. The joint notice may be sent by either the introducing or the clearing firm. As noted above, member firms should review NASD Notice to Members 00-66 and SEC Release No. 34-42974 for additional information and guidance.

- 1 See also SEC Release No. 34-42974 (June 22, 2000), 65 FR 40334 (June 29, 2000) (SEC adoption of Regulation S-P).
- 2 Investment companies and investment advisers registered with the SEC also must comply with GLBA and Regulation S-P.
- 3 Generally, references in Regulation S-P to "consumers" also apply to "customers."
- 4 Broker/dealers were required to have provided initial notices to the broker/dealers' existing customers by July 1, 2001.
- 5 Section 248.14 provides for an exception to the notice and opt out requirements for processing and servicing transactions.
- 6 Section 248.15 provides for various exceptions to the notice and opt out requirements (e.g., information shared with a consumer reporting agency in accordance with the Fair Credit Reporting Act, with persons holding a legal or beneficial interest relating to the consumer, etc.)
- 7 Section 248.13 provides for an exception to the opt out requirements for service providers and joint marketing arrangements.

Margin Disclosure Statement Rule Approved

National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. (NASD®) Rule 2341 became effective on June 4, 2001. NASD Rule 2341 requires all NASD members to deliver to non-institutional customers a disclosure statement that discusses the operation of a margin account and the risks associated with trading on margin.¹ This new requirement was a result of growing margin account balances coupled with an increase in customer inquiries and complaints relating to margin accounts. With input from a number of NASD Regulation standing and District committees, NASD Regulation staff concluded that, because there were no specific disclosure requirements in this area, disclosures to customers relating to margin were not consistent from firm to firm and often times were not in a form that was understandable to customers.

Rule 2341 requires that the margin disclosure statement be provided to margin customers in a separate document prior to or at the opening of a margin account. The margin disclosure statement describes the operation of a margin account and emphasizes that customers should carefully review their margin agreement. It also clarifies some of the risks associated with margin trading, including:

- ❖ the customer can lose more funds than initially deposited;
- ❖ the firm can sell the securities or other assets in the customer's account without notice to the customer;
- ❖ the firm can dictate which security or other assets are selected for liquidation;

- ❖ the firm can raise its house maintenance margin requirements at any time without advance notice; and
- ❖ the customer is not entitled to an extension of time on a margin call.

The NASD has provided a margin disclosure statement that can be used by member firms. Members are permitted to develop an alternative margin disclosure statement, provided that the alternative disclosure statement is substantially similar to the NASD-drafted statement and incorporates all of the relevant concepts. The rule also requires that the margin disclosure statement or an abbreviated version of the disclosure statement be provided to margin customers on an annual basis, either in a separate document or as part of other account documentation.

Members must deliver the initial and annual disclosure statement, in writing or electronically, to customers on an individual basis. For example, posting of the disclosure on the firm's Web site for general access would not fulfill the individual delivery requirement. However, requiring that each customer, when completing margin account opening documents, specifically read and indicate electronically that he or she has read the disclosure statement, would meet the individual delivery requirement.

The rule requires that the initial disclosure statement be provided in a separate document; the disclosure statement can be provided with or as part of other documents, but it must be contained by itself on a separate page. The annual disclosure statement may be provided within other documentation, such as the account statement, and does not have to be on a separate page.

Both the clearing firm and the introducing firm are responsible for ensuring that the customer receives the required disclosures under new Rule 2341. However, pursuant to NASD Rule 3230, the clearing firm and introducing firm may specify, as part of the clearing agreement, which party is responsible for delivery of the initial and annual disclosure statements to the customer.

For those non-institutional customers who were margin customers of the firm prior to the effective date of the rule (June 4, 2001), members are required to provide the disclosure statement or an abbreviated version of the disclosure statement at the time of the next annual account statement to the customer, but no later than January 31, 2002.

ADVERTISING REGULATION

Spotlight On Advertising Regulation

This column is a new, periodic feature on issues relating to the review of NASD members' communications by the Advertising Regulation Department (the Department) of NASD Regulation, Inc. The Department's mission is to protect investors by ensuring that NASD member firms' communications with the public are fair, balanced, and not misleading. The Department pursues this mission through several regulatory programs including the review of filings submitted by members to the staff for written comments. For detailed information regarding filing communications with the Department or past interpretive positions, please view the Advertising Regulation Information Guide at www.nasdr.com/5600.htm.

The Department provides written comments to NASD member firms on advertisements and sales literature filed with the staff either voluntarily or pursuant to one of the filing requirements set forth in the NASD Conduct Rules. The Department staff also field questions from member firms and the public regarding the rules applicable to member communications. The Department hosts two conferences each fall: one in Washington, DC and one in conjunction with the NASD Regulation Fall Securities Conference. In addition, the Department contributes regularly to NASD publications such as Notices to Members.

The Department also conducts reviews of problematic communications used by member firms and brought to the attention of the Department as a complaint or inquiry. While many of these matters are resolved without need of disciplinary action, the Department does participate in the disciplinary process. The staff may issue informal remedial actions directly or, in situations involving egregiously misleading communications, the staff will work with NASD Regulation's District Offices and Department of Enforcement to pursue formal action.

Compliance Focus: Disclosure In “Stretch IRA” Sales Material

The NASD staff has recently observed several situations in which members used communications with the public about individual retirement accounts reflecting current changes to Internal Revenue Service rules. The term “stretch IRA” is used to describe an IRA that is set up to extend the period of tax deferred earnings beyond the lifetime of the individual who created the account. The accounts are typically designed to last over multiple generations.

Communications seen by the Department have described investments such as mutual funds and variable products to fund the account.

Sales presentations for stretch IRAs often include hypothetical illustrations in the form of value tables showing how much the account will be worth over time. The NASD staff has commented to members about illustrations that cover extended periods, such as 90 years. The illustrations also contain other assumptions that are not stated or described clearly to the reader.

To avoid misleading the public about these accounts, members must make sure that they are described accurately and the assumptions used in the illustrations are stated clearly. No material fact or qualification may be omitted if it would cause the communication to be misleading. Following are certain issues that the NASD staff believes members must address in stretch IRA sales presentations:

- ❖ Members must explain clearly that stretch IRAs are designed for investors who will not need the money in the account for their own retirement needs.
- ❖ Members must show the rate and age at which each distribution throughout the illustration periods begin.
- ❖ Hypothetical illustrations must not state or imply that results shown are on behalf of any specific investment product.
- ❖ Illustrations must not use unreasonable rates of return or lengthy time periods that would cause them to be exaggerated, promissory, or misleading.
- ❖ In preparing these illustrations members should consider various factors affecting an investor's decision such as possible changes to tax laws, the impact of inflation, and other risks.

Ask The Analyst

"Ask the Analyst" provides member firms a forum to pose questions to the NASD Advertising Regulation Department on a variety of topics. Although the Department does not answer all questions in this publication, it does respond to all questions received either here or by contacting parties directly.

Variable Insurance Products

Q: What disclosures, if any, must be included in communications that discuss the return available on the dollar cost averaging fixed account of a variable annuity contract?

A: Members must be careful not to overstate the returns available on these accounts. The NASD has seen a number of communications that promote a dollar cost averaging fixed account based on a very high annual effective yield. In contrast to the standard fixed account of a variable annuity that might offer a 4% or 5% yield commensurate with other fixed income investments, we have seen some accounts advertised with rates as high as 12% or 15%. However, investors do not actually earn this rate over a full year.

The account is only available for lump sum investments. The lump sum is then automatically transferred into the variable account options in equal monthly installments over a period of six months or one year. Because all of the money must be transferred out of the account, the high annual effective rate is paid on a declining balance and, in the case of a six-month program, the rate is earned for less than a year. Thus, the actual return on dollars invested is much lower than the advertised annual effective yield.

To avoid misleading the public about these accounts, members must avoid over-emphasizing the annual effective yield figure. Instead, members' communications about these accounts should focus first on explaining how the accounts operate, including the requirement that all monies be transferred out of the account within a pre-set timeframe. In addition, if any type of return is mentioned in communications about the account, the focus should be on the actual return on investment the customer can expect to receive over the term of the account net of applicable fees and charges. The annual effective yield figure may be disclosed provided it is not over emphasized and that it appears in context that clearly explains that it is used to calculate the return on investment, but does not reflect funds the customer will receive.

General

Q: How does the NASD view seminars? Are they considered advertisements or sales literature?

A: Seminar scripts, handouts, slides, or other visual presentations are deemed to be sales literature under NASD Conduct Rule 2210(a)(2).¹ As such, these items must comply with the approval, recordkeeping, and filing requirements of the rule in addition to the content standards. In contrast, extemporaneous seminar presentations, such as unscripted question and answer sessions, are considered to be the participation in a public forum. As such, the individual making the presentation must adhere to the content standards of NASD Conduct Rule 2210 only. However, member firms are obligated to supervise all seminar activities of their registered persons in accordance with NASD Conduct Rule 3010. Such supervision may include a prior approval requirement and monitoring of the substance of the seminar.

Q: Does the NASD prohibit projections from third parties about general economic conditions?

A: Members may include reasonable forecasts of general economic conditions in their communications with the public, provided they are clearly labeled as such and provided that sufficient information is included enabling the reader to understand and evaluate the forecast. For example, the communication would have to disclose the material assumptions used in arriving at a forecast and disclose the inherent uncertainty of such projections. Members must bear in mind that the rules strictly prohibit projections of investment results (see NASD Conduct Rule 2210(d)(2)(N)).

Mutual Funds

Q: We would like to advertise a magazine's rankings of our mutual fund's total return performance versus other funds. While the fund has existed for over 10 years, the magazine's rankings cover only one-year and five-year periods. Would our use of the rankings for the one-year and five-year periods suffice?

A: Since the fund has existed for more than 10 years, Conduct Rule, IM-2210-3, titled "Use of Rankings in Investment Companies Advertisements and Sales Literature," requires a 10-year ranking as well. If this ranking is unavailable, as in this case, a comparable long-term ranking created by the same ranking entity is acceptable. Absent the inclusion of the 10-year or comparable long-term ranking, the magazine's rankings must not be used.

Electronic Communications And Filing Requirements

Q: We recently filed our first advertisement with the NASD Advertising Regulation Department and are aware that we will need to file all of our advertisements at least 10 days prior to use for a period of one year from the date of our first filing as required by NASD Conduct Rule 2210(c)(4)(A). Must our new Web site also be filed with the Advertising Regulation Department at least 10 days prior to use?

A: Yes. Web sites are deemed to be advertisements because they are generally available to the viewer. However, some members limit access to sections of their Web sites through the use of passwords and/or the registration of the viewer. In these limited circumstances the password-protected sections of the members' Web sites may be deemed to be sales literature. Although some types of sales literature may be required to be filed depending on its content, in general sales literature does not need to be filed pursuant to Conduct Rule 2210(c)(4)(A). For a complete summary of the filing requirements, you may wish to review the Advertising Regulation Question &

Answer Guide at www.nasdr.com/5640.htm. Members should contact the Department staff to discuss specific circumstances regarding the use of password protection and the filing requirements.

Web CRD E-Mail Notifications For Firms

NASD Regulation reminds members of a new feature, implemented in a recent release, in the functionality of Web CRDSM. Member firms can now request an automatic e-mail reminder be sent from Web CRD to a designated individual at the firm whenever any or all of five significant, registration-related conditions occur:

1. The member firm's financial account becomes funds deficient.
2. A regulator withdraws a temporary registration for an associated individual.
3. A registered individual associated with the firm becomes CE Inactive.
4. A registered individual associated with the firm is within 90 days from the end of his/her required Regulatory Element 120-day window.
5. An associated individual with the firm has an Outstanding Disclosure Letter.

Firms may choose any combination or all of the five notifications for which they would like to be notified by e-mail. (See related article on page 19 regarding continuing education e-mail reminders.)

The firm must set up via Web CRD the receipt of the e-mail notifications. It must do so in order to provide the name and e-mail address of its designated recipient. To initiate receipt of any or all of the above notifications to an e-mail address at the firm, the firm must log onto Web CRD:

1. Click on NFI ORGANIZATION SEARCH under ORGANIZATION-NON-FILING INFORMATION on the Site Map.
2. Click on FIRM NOTIFICATION on the Navigation Panel or on the footer at the bottom of the screen. NOTE: If you do not see Firm Notification on the Navigation Panel, you may not have authorization for this function. Please contact your firm's Web CRD Account Administrator.
3. Enter the e-mail address of the individual who you want to receive the notifications at your firm.
4. Enter the individual's name.
5. Enter the phone number of the individual.
6. Place a check mark in the box before each notification that you wish to receive. (If you would like to receive e-mail notification of all five notifications, you must check all five boxes.)
7. Click on SAVE.

To access the Firm Notification function in Web CRD, your firm's Account Administrator must first entitle you with the MAINTAIN FIRMS NOTIFICATION privilege. Please note that while Account Administrators can set up other individuals at their firm with the Maintain Firms Notification function, they cannot do so for themselves. Account Administrators who do not already have the Maintain Firms Notification privilege and would like to be entitled to it themselves must fax a newly completed Account Administrator Entitlement Form (AAEF), specifically requesting the privilege, to the NASDR Entitlement Group at (240) 386-4669.

The Entitlement Group will add the privilege to the Account Administrator's other Web CRD entitlements. To obtain an AAEF, call the Gateway Call Center at (301) 590-6500.

Once the firm has initiated the notifications, it will receive a separate e-mail notification each time a selected condition occurs. As an example, if three individuals at the firm are issued Outstanding Disclosure Letters on the same day, then the firm will receive three separate e-mail notifications, one for, and specific to, each individual.

Currently firms may only designate one person to receive the e-mail messages. Several firms have requested the ability to identify more than one individual to receive e-mail messages. NASD Regulation is assessing the costs and technical considerations for such an enhancement.

Feedback from firms indicates that this Web CRD functionality has been positive, especially if the firm does not access Web CRD on a daily basis. With the rollout of the e-mail Firm Notification functionality, firms can now be assured of receiving these five timely and important updates via Web CRD Firm Queues and e-mail. It is the intention of NASD Regulation, with input from the Web CRD user communities, to expand the types of e-mail notifications that firms may request to receive as Web CRD is enhanced in future releases.

Questions regarding the new firm e-mail notifications may be directed to the Gateway Call Center at (301) 590-6500.

Firm E-Mail Notifications Tip

If the individual at the firm who receives the e-mail notifications is going to be out of the office for an extended period of time, due to vacation or other circumstances, there are two suggested methods to ensure continued review/analysis of the messages for firms:

- (1) the firm can change, at any time, the recipient of the e-mail notifications, via the Web CRD system, and should identify another individual to receive the e-mails during the interim. It would do so, following the steps previously outlined; or,
- (2) the individual who receives the e-mail notifications can request that the firm's technical support staff temporarily forward his/her e-mail to another individual's mailbox.

IARD Update: Investment Adviser Firm Registration

The Investment Adviser Registration Depository (IARD) system was launched December 4, 2000. IARD enables investment advisers to electronically file Forms ADV and ADV-W with the SEC and/or individual states. Sponsored by the SEC and the North American Securities Administrators Association (NASAA), IARD was developed by NASD Regulation in accordance with the requirements set by its sponsors and an Industry Advisory Council, which includes investment adviser firms and trade associations.

The SEC mandated that all federally regulated advisers transition to electronic filing during the first four months of 2001. A Transition Filing Schedule was adopted based on an adviser's 801 number and fiscal year-end date. Advisers were required to submit a revised Form ADV electronically through IARD based on the Transition Filing Schedule.

April 30, 2001, marked the conclusion of the implementation period for existing SEC-registered investment adviser firms to transition onto IARD. The majority of advisers complied with the SEC mandate and successfully filed their Form ADVs by their scheduled deadlines. The SEC sent a warning letter on March 27, 2001, to federally regulated investment advisers that failed to set up an IARD User Account, which would entitle them to file on IARD. Those advisers that have failed to submit an electronic filing are at risk of having their SEC registration canceled.

All states that regulate investment advisers have agreed to accept filings through IARD. Currently most states have made firm participation in IARD voluntary; however, many states are in the process of legislation and/or rulemaking to mandate use of the IARD system. To check which states have already mandated or plan on mandating electronic filing on IARD, visit the NASAA Web Site at www.nasaa.org.

There are important upcoming IARD items to keep in mind for the second half of 2001, as well as for 2002. Scheduled for release in the third quarter of 2001 is the Investment Adviser Public Disclosure Program for investment adviser firms registered through the IARD system. The most recent electronic full Form ADV filing made will be disclosed via the Internet; however, home addresses and Social Security numbers will not be available for viewing.

Another important item is the firm's participation in the IARD Renewals Program for the fourth quarter of 2001. Additional detailed information regarding renewals will be communicated directly to investment adviser firms later in 2001 and will be available on the IARD Web Site at www.iard.com. As for 2002, advisers should plan on budgeting fees for the expected release of Investment Adviser Representatives, which will implement the registration of investment adviser representatives on IARD. The anticipated fees per representative are as follows: $45 for an Initial Set-up Fee, $45 for the Annual Renewal Fee, and $45 for a Transfer Fee when a representative changes firms.

The IARD system will continue to grow as future releases enable further streamlining of electronic filing for investment advisers, centralized registration information for regulatory review, and valuable information to the investing public. For additional information regarding IARD, please visit these Web Sites.

REGULATORY SHORT TAKES

DPP And REIT Valuations On Customer Account Statements

Since the SEC approved amendments to the NASD Customer Account Statement Rule (Rule 2340) in November 2000, NASD Regulation has addressed a number of questions from member firms concerning the interpretation and application of the rule. NASD Regulation has compiled in this Regulatory & Compliance Alert frequently asked questions to help members understand and apply the new amendments.

Background

In NASD Notice to Members 01-08 (January 2001), NASD Regulation included the text of the new amendments to the Customer Account Statement Rule and described the customer account statement disclosure requirements for illiquid direct participation program (DPP) and real estate investment trust (REIT) securities. The Customer Account Statement Rule requires members that conduct a general securities business to send account statements to customers on at least a quarterly basis. The account statements must include a description of any securities position, money balances, or account activity since the prior account statement was sent.

The new amendments provide that estimated values must be included on an account statement if illiquid DPP or REIT securities are in the possession or control of the member and the annual report for the DPP or REIT includes a per share estimated value. When members are not required to provide an estimated value, they may do so voluntarily as long as they satisfy the rule's new requirements that: (i) valuations cannot be more than 18 months old; and (ii) account statements must describe the source of the valuation and the method by which it was developed.

Questions And Answers

Q. How soon after an estimated value is published in an annual report is a member required to include the value on an account statement?

A. A member must include the estimated value on the account statement issued at the end of the third month following the date that the program or trust files the annual report with the SEC.

Q. When a member is required to include an estimated value on the account statement, is the member required to include it only on the account statement issued at the end of the third month, or on all subsequent account statements, until a new estimated value is published in the annual report?

A. The rule only requires members to include the estimated value on the account statement issued at the end of the third month following the date that the program or trust files the annual report with the SEC. Members, however, may decide to include estimated values on all customer account statements as an accommodation or service to their customers.

Q. What is the extent of a member's obligation to ensure that the estimated value included on the account statement is accurate?

A. The member is not obligated to ensure that an estimated value provided from outside the member firm is accurate. NASD Notice to Members 01-08 states "The rule does not oblige a general securities member to confirm the accuracy of an estimated value provided in a DPP or REIT's annual report or provided by any other source external to a member." A member has an affirmative obligation, however, to remove or amend an estimated value if the member can demonstrate that the value was inaccurate as of the date of valuation or is no longer accurate as a result of a material change in the operations or assets of the program or trust.

Q. If a DPP or REIT program or trust provides a new estimated value in a quarterly report, is the new value necessarily a material change that renders a previously disclosed estimated value "no longer accurate," thereby preventing a member from continuing to use an estimated value that was based on annual financial statements or included in the last annual report?

A. A quarterly estimated value that varies from a previously disclosed annual estimated value does not necessarily constitute a material change in the operations or assets of the program or trust requiring the annual value to be updated or deleted. Members will have to determine whether they may continue to report the previous value based on the facts and circumstances. NASD Regulation recognizes that such programs operating in the ordinary course of business will experience changes in financial operations and some fluctuations in the estimated value of their securities throughout the year that do not constitute a "material change."

Q. What kind of disclosure satisfies the rule's requirement for members to provide a description of the estimated value?

A. Members may fulfill this requirement by disclosing whether the estimated value represents an estimate of the investor's interest in the assets owned by the DPP or REIT or whether it represents an estimate of the value of the investor's securities.

Q. What kind of disclosure satisfies the rule's requirement for members to provide a description of the source of the estimated value?

A. Members may fulfill this requirement by disclosing whether the estimated value was obtained from the program managers, an independent valuation firm, or calculated by the member itself.

Q. What kind of disclosure satisfies the rule's requirement for members to provide a description of the method by which the estimated value was determined?

A. Members may fulfill this requirement by disclosing whether the estimated value was derived from:

- ❖ an independent valuation firm's appraisal of program's assets;
- ❖ the program managers' estimate of the value of the program assets;
- ❖ the book value of the program's assets or capital accounts;

- ❖ repurchase prices paid for program interests; or
- ❖ sales prices of the program interests in informal secondary markets.

A. "Above the line" is a term that indicates securities are in the possession of the member. The term "below the line" means that securities or other assets listed on the account statement are reported, but are not in the possession of the member. Typically, securities are listed below the line in response to customer requests. The rule applies to securities listed or itemized on the account statement regardless of where they appear on the account statement.

Continuing Education Reminder

NASD Regulation reminds firms of their responsibility to monitor for compliance with the Regulatory Element of the Continuing Education requirements of NASD Rule 1120(a). NASD Regulation staff is detecting instances of inactive individual registrations due to the failure to complete Regulatory Element training. Some individuals in 'inactive' status have improperly continued to conduct business activities that require registration. In some instances, principals and senior officers of firms have continued to supervise staff and manage the firm's business even though their registration status is inactive.

The continuing education rules of all of the securities self-regulatory organizations prohibit persons deemed inactive from performing, or being compensated for, any activities requiring registration, including supervision. Infractions of the Regulatory Element continuing education provision can result in a range of actions from informal dispositions (such as a Letter of Caution) to a formal action (such as a complaint), depending on the circumstances of the particular matter.

As a reminder, Rule 1120 requires registered representatives and principals to complete the Regulatory Element computer-based training within 120 days from certain milestone dates. Each firm is required to prepare, maintain, and follow procedures that are reasonably designed to assure compliance with the Regulatory Element. These procedures should identify who will be responsible for compliance with the rule, how that person will monitor Web CRD to determine when registered persons are required to complete their Regulatory Element training, and how the firm will ensure that persons deemed inactive cease conducting activities requiring registration, including supervision of the firm's business.

Notification to member firms of those registered persons approaching a milestone date, those currently in a 120-day window, and/or those who have been deemed inactive, is provided through Web CRD. In addition, firms may register to receive e-mail notification from Web CRD (see related article on page 13 regarding how to make use of CRD e-mail notifications) when a person registered with the firm is in an open window or has been deemed inactive. For more information, please see NASD Notices to Members 00-35 (June 2000), 01-07 (January 2001), and 01-17 (March 2001).

Questions concerning the continuing education requirements of NASD Rule 1120 may be directed to Daniel M. Sibears or John Linnehan, Member Regulation, NASD Regulation, Inc., at (202) 728-6911 or (240) 386-4684, respectively. Members may also contact their local NASD Regulation District Office.

Update: Testing And Continuing Education—International Delivery

NASD Regulation is now offering delivery of computerized testing and continuing education sessions in Europe and the Pacific Rim.

NOTE: Continuing Education Session 2-101 is now available for scheduling and delivery at all international locations. Continuing Education Sessions 2-201 and 2-106 are not yet available for scheduling or delivery. NASD Regulation anticipates that these will be available in the future. We are approving extensions to eligibility windows for candidates who want to schedule the 2-201 or 2-106 sessions internationally, since we are not able to accommodate them at this time.

If a continuing education window for Sessions 2-201 or 2-106 needs to be extended, please call NASDR Field Support Services in the US at 800-999-6647, Option 1. Indicate that the continuing education window needs to be extended because the individual is attempting to complete the session internationally.

Computerized delivery is offered in the following cities:

- ❖ Sydney, Australia
- ❖ Hong Kong, China
- ❖ Paris, France
- ❖ Frankfurt, Germany
- ❖ Tokyo, Japan
- ❖ Seoul, South Korea
- ❖ London, United Kingdom

For detailed contact/location information, appointment scheduling phone numbers, and policies/procedures for scheduling candidate appointments, visit our Web Site at www.nasdr.com/2634.htm.

The following are “best practices” that firms and candidates should use when scheduling a session internationally.

- ❖ Ensure that the firm has filed an application on Web CRD for the candidate to take the appropriate session, and that an eligibility window has been opened.
- ❖ When scheduling the appointment, the firm and/or candidate should be prepared to provide a US-issued Social Security number (SS#) if an SS# has been entered into Web CRD for the candidate.

If a candidate is being scheduled into a foreign location, and has been issued an SS# that has been entered into Web CRD, then the SS# must be used as the candidate's primary ID number when scheduling the appointment.

If a candidate does not have a US-issued SS#, then the firm and/or the candidate must be prepared to provide the candidate's CRD Number for validation purposes.

- ❖ Request additional time for candidates who speak English as a second language (ESL) at the time that the appointment is scheduled. Candidates who speak English as a second language will not automatically receive additional time for their session.

Upon arrival to the test center, the candidate must provide a letter from the firm verifying the ESL condition just as is required in domestic centers.

Update: Implementation Of New Procedure For Group Appointment Scheduling

Effective March 1, 2001, NASD Regulation implemented a new procedure for scheduling group appointments. There is one major difference from the procedure that was in place before March 1.

Firms will be contacted 30 days before the scheduled group appointment date for confirmation as to the number of appointments needed. Firms can opt to keep the number of appointments or reduce the number of appointments. Once the confirmation has occurred, the firm will be charged for the "agreed upon" number of appointments regardless of whether they are used.

Firms will need to provide specific candidate information (names, Social Security numbers) 14 days before the appointment date if the group was scheduled as a "block" and actual candidate information was not previously provided. If the candidate information is not provided to the Field Support Services Group appointment staff by the 14-day cutoff date, the appointments will be canceled, and the firm charged for those appointments.

NOTE: Firms must use caution when changing a previously confirmed group appointment to another date.

The original group appointment date has to be canceled in order to reserve a different date. The firm runs the risk of not being able to reserve the newly requested date (due to capacity restraints), and forfeiting the previously held date. A date change to an existing group appointment will be treated as a brand new request, and will be placed in the work queue as such.

NASD DISCIPLINARY ACTIONS

NASD Disciplinary Actions

In April, May, and June 2001, the NASD announced the following disciplinary actions against these firms and individuals. Publication of these sanctions alerts members and their associated persons to actionable behavior and the penalties that may result. This information is current as of June 2001.

District 1 - Northern California (the counties of Monterey, San Benito, Fresno, and Inyo, and the remainder of the state north or west of such counties), northern Nevada (the counties of Esmeralda and Nye, and the remainder of the state north or west of such counties), and Hawaii

April Actions

Joseph Gaetano Gerace (CRD #1060223, Registered Principal, San Rafael, California) submitted an Offer of Settlement in which he was censured, fined $10,000, and suspended from association with any NASD member in any capacity for 30 business days. The fine must be paid before reassociating with any NASD member following the suspension or before requesting relief from any statutory disqualification. Without admitting or denying the allegations, Gerace consented to the described sanctions and to the entry of findings that, a member firm, acting through Gerace, effected transactions in securities while failing to maintain minimum required net capital.

Gerace's suspension began April 2, 2001, and concluded at the close of business May 14, 2001. (NASD Case #C01000020)

W.R. Hambrecht & Co., LLC (CRD #45040, San Francisco, California) and William R. Hambrecht (CRD #234793, Registered Principal, San Francisco, California) were censured and fined $15,000, jointly and severally. The sanctions were based on findings that the firm, acting through Hambrecht, engaged in securities sales activities in contravention of a written agreement with the NASD that required the firm to refrain from engaging in such activities until it received approval from the NASD. (NASD Case #C01000011)

Kevin Arthur Hoag (CRD #1908521, Registered Representative, San Francisco, California) was fined $12,200 and barred from association with any NASD member in any capacity. The fine must be paid before any application for reentry into the securities industry will be considered. The sanctions were based on findings that Hoag executed unauthorized transactions in the accounts of public customers. (NASD Case #C01000013)

May Actions

Leigh Farrington Fiske (CRD #2330320, Registered Representative, Monterey, California) was barred from association with any NASD member in any capacity. The sanction was based on findings that Fiske failed to respond to NASD requests for information. (NASD Case #C01000024)

Gregory Paul Maggipinto (CRD #1042789, Registered Representative, San Jose, California) was fined $107,734 and barred from association with any NASD member in any capacity. The fine must be paid before any application for reentry into the securities industry will be considered. The sanctions were based on findings that Maggipinto executed unauthorized transactions in a deceased customer's account and fraudulently obtained discretionary trading authority from the customer's survivors by representing that he had been given power of attorney over the account. Maggipinto also failed to respond to NASD requests to appear for an on-the-record interview. (NASD Case #C01000026)

Arnold Lopez Magpantay (CRD #2812805, Registered Representative, Sacramento, California) was barred from association with any NASD member in any capacity. The sanction was based on findings that Magpantay willfully provided false responses on his Form U-4. (NASD Case #C01000015)

June Actions

Cery Bradley Perle (CRD #2306492, Registered Principal, Corona Del Mar, California) was barred from association with any NASD member in any capacity. The sanction was based on findings that Perle received checks from public customers totaling $30,000 for the purchase of stock in an IPO prior to the registration statement for the offering becoming effective. Furthermore, Perle began aftermarket trading in the stock before completing the distribution of the IPO in violation of the NASD's Free-Riding and Withholding Interpretation. (NASD Case #C01000020)

District 2 - Southern California (that part of the state south or east of the counties of Monterey, San Benito, Fresno, and Inyo), southern Nevada (that part of the state south or east of the counties of Esmeralda and Nye), and the former U.S. Trust Territories

Nicholas John Kirk (CRD #2004783, Registered Representative, Rocklin, California) submitted an Offer of Settlement in which he was barred from association with any NASD member in any capacity and required to pay $78,500, plus interest, in restitution to a public customer. Proof of restitution, with interest, shall be a prerequisite before reassociating with a member firm or before requesting relief from any statutory disqualification. Without admitting or denying the allegations, Kirk consented to the described sanctions and to the entry of findings that he borrowed $78,500 from a public customer purportedly for start-up costs for a business and failed to provide the customer with any instrument documenting the duration of the terms of the loans, including the principal borrowed from her or the interest, if any, she would be earning on that principal. The NASD found that, instead, Kirk used the funds for his personal use and benefit and never repaid the customer any portion of the loans. The findings also stated that Kirk gave the NASD false and misleading responses to written requests concerning his handling of loan proceeds and provided false and misleading representations on his Form U-4. (NASD Case #C02000055)

Robert David Mayfield (CRD #2386752, Registered Principal, Murrietta, California) and Daniel Joseph Frydrych (CRD #1343609, Registered Principal, Temecula, California) were named as respondents in an NASD complaint alleging that they recommended to public customers the purchase and sale of securities without having reasonable grounds for believing that such recommendations were suitable for the customers in light of the nature of the transactions and the facts disclosed by the customers as to their other securities holdings, financial situation, investment objectives, circumstances, and needs. The complaint further alleges that Frydrych and Mayfield engaged in unethical conduct in that they provided the customers and their member firm with a materially false and misleading mutual fund switch form negatively impacting their ability to accurately assess the suitability of the transactions. (NASD Case #C02010003)

Thomas Vincent Meaglia (CRD #862483, Registered Representative, Glendora, California) and Richard Steven Meza (CRD #2570853, Registered Representative, Corina, California) were named as respondents in an NASD complaint alleging that they exercised discretion in the accounts of public customers, without having obtained prior written authorization from the customers and prior written acceptance of the accounts as discretionary by their member firm. The complaint also alleges that Meaglia and Meza recommended and engaged in transactions in the account of public customers, and did not have reasonable grounds for believing that these recommendations and resultant transactions were suitable for the customers on the basis of their financial situation, investment objectives, and needs. (NASD Case #C02010002)

Mynor Monterroso (CRD #2355105, Associated Person, Norco, California) submitted an Offer of Settlement in which he was barred from association with any NASD member in any capacity, with the right to reapply for association with any NASD member in any capacity after a period of five years. Without admitting or denying the allegations, Monterroso consented to the described sanctions and to the entry of findings that he provided false responses on his Form U-4 and failed to amend his Form U-4. The findings also stated that Monterroso failed to respond to NASD requests for information. (NASD Case #C02000063)

Robert Tretiak (CRD #1416058, Registered Principal, Las Vegas, Nevada) was barred from association with any NASD member in any principal capacity, suspended from association with any NASD member in any capacity for two years and six months, fined $35,000, and suspended until an outstanding arbitration award is paid in full plus an additional 30 days. If, after 30 months from the date of the National Adjudicatory Council (NAC) decision, an outstanding arbitration award is not fully paid or otherwise satisfied, the suspension imposed will convert to a bar in all capacities. The National Adjudicatory Council (NAC) imposed the sanctions following appeal of two Office of Hearing Officers (OHO) decisions. The sanctions were based on findings that Tretiak fraudulently sold securities in an initial public offering (IPO) while using a materially misleading prospectus and in violation of the contingency requirements contained in the prospectus and that he failed properly to establish an escrow account for the IPO. The NAC also found that Tretiak failed to satisfy a $52,360 arbitration award that had been reduced to civil judgment. Tretiak has appealed this action to the SEC and the sanctions, other than the principal bar, and the suspension until he pays off the arbitration award, are not in effect pending consideration of the appeal. The principal bar and suspension, until the arbitration award is paid, began March 9, 2001. (NASD Cases #C02990042 and #C02980085)

May Actions

NevWest Securities Corporation (CRD #46464, Henderson, Nevada) and Anthony Marks Mello, III (CRD #2781726, Registered Principal, Las Vegas, Nevada) submitted a Letter of Acceptance, Waiver, and Consent in which they were censured and fined $15,000, jointly and severally. Without admitting or denying the allegations, the respondents consented to the described sanctions and to the entry of findings that the firm, acting through Mello, offered and sold shares of common stock through a private "minimum-maximum" offering to public customers and presented to the customers a private placement memorandum that contained false and misleading statements. The findings also stated that the firm, acting through Mello, failed to deposit and retain customer funds in a properly established bank escrow account pending the occurrence of the contingency, failed to compute the amounts required to be deposited into the Special Reserve Bank Account for the Exclusive Benefit of Customers, and failed to timely deposit the amounts required to be deposited into the account. (NASD Case #C02010005)

Harold Bailey Gallison, Jr. (CRD #1040211, Registered Principal, Las Vegas, Nevada) submitted an Offer of Settlement in which he was barred from association with any NASD member in any capacity. (NASD Case #C02000027)

Jay Lynn Murphy (CRD #343227, Registered Representative, Van Nuys, California) submitted a Letter of Acceptance, Waiver, and Consent in which he was barred from association with any NASD member in any capacity. Without admitting or denying the allegations, Murphy consented to the described sanction and to the entry of findings that he participated in private securities transactions and failed to give prior written notice to, and to receive written approval from, his member firm prior to engaging in such activities. (NASD Case #C02010006)

Paul John Hoeper (CRD #2318477, Registered Representative, Corona Del Mar, California) was barred from association with any NASD member in any capacity. The sanction was based on findings that Hoeper failed to respond to NASD requests for information.

Hoeper has appealed this action to the NAC, and the sanction is not in effect pending consideration of the appeal. (NASD Case #C02000037)

June Actions

James Ralph Betts, Jr. (CRD #20678, Registered Principal, San Rafael, California) submitted a Letter of Acceptance, Waiver, and Consent in which he was barred from association with any NASD member in any capacity. (NASD Case #C02010017)

Anura Mohan DeSilva (CRD #1438319, Registered Representative, Simi Valley, California) submitted a Letter of Acceptance, Waiver, and Consent in which he was barred from association with any NASD member in any capacity. Without admitting or denying the allegations, DeSilva consented to the described sanction and to the entry of findings that, in connection with the purchase and sale of variable annuity products through his member firm, DeSilva induced customers to render payment of unearned fees in the amount of at least $32,600, directly to him. According to the findings, DeSilva misled the customers to believe that the unearned fees were his sole source of compensation for the transaction when, in fact, the unearned fees were in addition to commissions paid to him by the issuers, which reduced the market value of the customers' investments. In addition, the NASD found that DeSilva failed to inform his member firm that he was charging and receiving fees directly from customers in addition to commissions paid on the annuity transactions. (NASD Case #C02010007)

Emanuel Richard Giglio (CRD #2457836, Registered Representative, Coronado, California) submitted a Letter of Acceptance, Waiver, and Consent in which he was suspended from association with any NASD member in any capacity for 90 days. Without admitting or denying the allegations, Giglio consented to the described sanction and to the entry of findings that he engaged in private securities transactions without prior written notice to, and approval from, his member firm.

Without admitting or denying the allegations, Lee consented to the described sanctions and to the entry of finding that a former member firm, acting through Lee, failed to supervise a registered representative adequately and properly to assure compliance with applicable rules and regulations, and failed to adopt, implement, and maintain adequate written supervisory procedures reasonably designed to detect and prevent unauthorized trading.

Lee's suspension began May 21, 2001, and will conclude at the close of business November 20, 2002. (NASD Case #C02010008)

Luis Valente Orozco (CRD #3052545, Registered Representative, Chula Vista, California) submitted a Letter of Acceptance, Waiver, and Consent in which he was barred from association with any NASD member in any capacity. The sanction was based on findings that Orozco engaged in an intentional and premeditated course of improper conduct in that he submitted false annuity applications and misused customer funds to settle the bogus transactions in order to inflate artificially his sales production statistics and to receive unearned commissions. According to the findings, to conceal his wrongdoing, Orozco misused and co-mingled funds in customers' accounts, forged a branch manager's signature on official checks, improperly obtained his employer's signature guarantee stamp, and used it to provide false signature guarantees. The findings also stated that, to further conceal his wrongdoing, Orozco opened an annuity account under a fictitious name, signed the false name to account documents, and funded the account by withdrawing funds, without authorization, from a certificate of deposit owned by a bona fide customer, and attempted to convert official checks and a check from an insurance company, all referencing the fictitious customer, into two separate official checks with a remitter to a bona fide customer. Moreover, the NASD determined that Orozco persisted in his scheme and attempted to thwart its detection by using multiple branch offices after facing questions from a branch manager. (NASD Case #C02010014) principal. In light of the financial status of Sun, no monetary sanction has been imposed. Without admitting or denying the allegations, Sun consented to the described sanctions and to the entry of findings that a former member firm, acting through Sun, conducted a securities business while failing to maintain its minimum required net capital. The findings also stated that Sun failed to supervise a registered representative adequately and properly to assure compliance with applicable rules and regulations, and failed to adopt, implement, and maintain adequate written supervisory procedures reasonably designed to detect and prevent unauthorized trading.

Sun's suspension began June 4, 2001, and will conclude at the close of business December 3, 2002. (NASD Case # C02010009)

The findings also stated that Shaughnessy completed a new account form for the customers' securities account that contained material inaccuracies. (NASD Case #C3A000036)

Thomas Otto Tabat (CRD #1011671, Registered Representative, Glendale, Arizona) submitted a Letter of Acceptance, Waiver, and Consent in which he was barred from association with any NASD member in any capacity. Without admitting or denying the allegations, Rising consented to the described sanctions and to the entry of findings that in connection with a private placement, he failed to return investor funds when the minimum sales contingency was not satisfied, and continued to solicit and accept purchases of the securities in a private placement after the minimum sales contingency was not satisfied and the funds received from investors were in the possession and control of the firm prior to the satisfaction of the minimum sales contingency. The findings also stated that Rising distributed offering materials to prospective investors that contained material misrepresentations.

Rising's suspension will begin June 1, 2001, and will conclude June 30, 2001. (NASD Case #C3A000012)

The findings also stated that the firm failed to consistently record or maintain all relevant terms and conditions on the memoranda for orders in that there was no indication of "not held" to denote working order status. The NASD also found that the firm incorrectly disclosed agency capacity on its customer confirmations for transactions when corresponding order tickets reflected the firm acting as principal. Moreover, the NASD found that the firm's supervisory system failed to provide for supervision reasonably designed to achieve compliance with respect to applicable securities laws and regulations concerning trading and marketplace rules. In addition, Krull was required to requalify as a general securities representative prior to reassociating with any NASD member and ordered to pay $81,705 in restitution to public customers. The Ninth U.S. Court of Appeals affirmed the sanctions following appeal of a December 1998 SEC decision. The sanctions were based on findings that Krull recommended unsuitable mutual fund switches in the accounts of public customers without having reasonable grounds for believing that such transactions were suitable for the customers in view of the frequency of the transactions, the type of transaction being recommended, and the customers' financial situations, circumstances, and needs.

Krull's bar in any principal or supervisory capacity became effective July 25, 1997. Krull's suspension in any capacity began June 4, 2001, and will conclude at the close of business June 3, 2002. (NASD Case #C3B940028)

Without admitting or denying the allegations,

McGowan consented to the described sanctions and to the entry of findings that she obtained $335,000 from a public customer and converted the funds to her own use and falsely represented to the customer that she had purchased municipal bonds for the customer's account. The findings also stated that, in order to conceal her conversion, McGowan caused checks totaling $27,556 to be issued to the customer, falsely representing to the customer that the checks represented interest on the bonds she had purchased when, in fact, the checks were drawn on the customer's margin account. In addition, the NASD found that McGowan, in order to conceal her conversion and to impede an NASD investigation, falsely stated to NASD Regulation staff members that she had used funds from sources, other than the public customer, to repay certain debts. The NASD also found that McGowan created and delivered to the NASD false documents purporting to be bank statements and checks. (NASD Case #3B010009)

The NASD also found that Wagner engaged in a course of conduct with the intent to delay discovery by the NASD of his firm's failure to maintain accurate books and records, its filing of inaccurate reports pursuant to SEC Rule 17a-5, and its operation with insufficient net capital. Baxter, Banks & Smith, Ltd. (CRD #40771, St. Petersburg, Florida) and Francis Martin McDermott (CRD #1013320, Registered Principal, St. Petersburg, Florida) submitted a Letter of Acceptance, Waiver, and Consent in which the firm was expelled from NASD membership. McDermott was barred from association with any NASD member in any supervisory, principal, or proprietary capacity, and barred from association with any NASD member in any capacity with the right to reapply for association with any NASD member firm after three years in a non-supervisory, principal, or proprietary capacity. In light of the financial status of McDermott, no monetary sanction has been imposed. Without admitting or denying the allegations, the respondents consented to the described sanctions and to the entry of findings that the firm, acting through its representatives, engaged in a scheme involving the use of high pressure, manipulative, and deceptive sales practices and misrepresentations and omissions of material facts in connection with the sale of common stock referred to as "deal stocks."

According to the findings, the firm employed a three-step process for soliciting customers, first using unregistered cold callers to prospect for potential customers. Then the firm's representatives would cold call the prospects and attempt to solicit their purchase of a known Nasdaq or New York Stock Exchange (NYSE) listed stock, and subsequently employ a "bait and switch" tactic by calling back the customers and soliciting their purchase of one of the deal stocks. The NASD found that the misrepresentations, price predictions, and omissions by the representatives involved information that was material to the investors' investment decision, and that certain representatives engaged in unauthorized trades when customers did not agree to purchase a deal stock and refused to execute customer orders to sell the stock. The NASD also found that the firm, acting through McDermott, failed to comply with Securities Exchange Act Rule 15g-9 concerning approval of accounts to trade in penny stocks and receipt of customer agreements to specific transactions, and the requirement to obtain suitability statements signed by the customers and approved by the firm. In addition, the NASD determined that the firm, acting through McDermott, failed to establish, maintain, and enforce a system to supervise the activities of its registered representatives that was reasonably designed to achieve compliance with applicable securities laws, rules, and regulations. (NASD Case #C07010014)

The NASD determined that, although the firm addressed the mutual fund switching with the representative, it failed to adequately address this issue in a timely manner and, therefore, failed to supervise, establish, and maintain a supervisory system that would ensure compliance with its suitability obligations. (NASD Case #C07010011)

The sanctions were based on findings that Cash recommended that a public customer purchase a single premium deferred annuity outside of the scope of his employment with his member firm and failed to provide prior written notice to, or receive written approval from, his member firm before such recommendation. Millennium Securities Corp. (CRD #31695, New York, New York), Richard Allen Sitomer (CRD #1995999, Registered Principal, New York, New York) and Todd Michael Rome (CRD #2082803, Registered Principal, New York, New York) submitted an Offer of Settlement in which the firm was ordered to file a Broker/Dealer Withdrawal Form to withdraw its membership from NASD no later than December 31, 2001, and that, if it fails to do so, not to oppose any action brought by the NASD Department of Enforcement seeking its expulsion. The firm was also required to disgorge $1.1 million and ordered not to act as a participant in any underwriting or initial public offering (IPO) in any capacity until such time as it has withdrawn from membership in the NASD. Sitomer and Rome were each fined $100,000, suspended from association with any NASD member in any capacity for six months, and suspended from association with any NASD member in any principal capacity for two years. Sitomer was also ordered to guarantee $225,000 of the firm's $1.1 million disgorgement.

Without admitting or denying the allegations, the respondents consented to the described sanctions and to the entry of findings that the firm participated as co-underwriter in an IPO of common stock and warrants. Sitomer and Rome sold a majority of the firm's allocation to public customers whose accounts they controlled, and repurchased all of the securities bought by the customers at the same prices after the opening of aftermarket trading and before becoming available to the investing public, thereby continuing the distribution. Following the repurchases, the firm up ticked its quotations and significantly increased the prices of the securities despite relatively little trading activity, and used special selling methods to resell the securities to retail customers at prices substantially above those paid by the firm to reacquire them. The NASD also found that the firm, Sitomer, and Rome made markets in common stock and warrants, and bid for, purchased, or induced others to purchase those securities. The findings also stated that the respondents failed to disclose that they were conducting a distribution, the amount of securities distributed, the source of the securities, and that the firm's customers would be paying significantly more than what the firm had just paid for the same securities.

Sitomer's and Rome's suspensions in any capacity began April 12, 2001, and will conclude at the close of business October 11, 2001. Sitomer's and Rome's suspensions in any principal capacity began April 12, 2001, and will conclude at the close of business April 11, 2003. (NASD Case #CAF000005)

Without admitting or denying the allegations, Malagon consented to the described sanctions and to the entry of findings that he failed to disclose material facts to a public customer that a reasonably prudent customer would have wanted disclosed in making investment decisions and that Malagon had a duty to disclose. The findings also stated that Malagon executed unauthorized trades in the account of a public customer without discretionary trading authority.

Malagon's suspension began April 16, 2001, and concluded at the close of business May 4, 2001. (NASD Case #CAF000046)

Without admitting or denying the allegations, Vega consented to the described sanctions and to the entry of findings that he rendered substantial assistance to his member firm and its CEO by executing orders and carrying out all basic trading functions relating to the trading activities of the common stock of a company that were designed to deceive or defraud public customers in spite of a general awareness that his role was improper.

Vega's suspension began April 16, 2001, and will conclude at the close of business June 14, 2001. (NASD Case #CAF010006)

Patrick James Boyce (CRD #2388578, Registered Principal, East Setauket, New York) was named as a respondent in an NASD complaint alleging that he directly and/or indirectly, singly and in concert, by use of the means or instrumentalities of interstate commerce, or of the mails, and in connection with the purchase and sale of securities, knowingly or recklessly engaged in, and/or induced others to engage in a device, scheme, or artifice to defraud, the use of an untrue statement of material fact and/or the omission of material facts necessary to make statements made, in light of the circumstances, not misleading, and acts, practices, or courses of business that operated as a fraud or deceit upon persons. The complaint also alleges that Boyce executed unauthorized trades in the accounts of public customers without the discretionary trading authority for the accounts. The complaint further alleges that Boyce made material omissions and misrepresentations and engaged in high-pressure sales tactics in attempting to solicit public customers to purchase stocks. In addition, the complaint alleges that Boyce effected transactions in and/or induced the purchase or sale of securities by means of manipulative, deceptive, and other fraudulent devices and contrivances. Dane Stephen Faber (CRD #1020637, Registered Principal, Sausalito, California), Grace Patricia Stoneham (CRD #1068378, Registered Representative, San Francisco, California) and Monty Reasor Myler (CRD #1922281, Registered Principal, Palm Beach Gardens, Florida) were named as respondents in an NASD complaint alleging that they, by the use of instrumentalities of interstate commerce, or of the mails, made material misrepresentations and omitted to state material facts about a company; effected transactions in, or induced the purchase or sale of, a security by means of a manipulative, deceptive, or fraudulent device; and failed to observe high standards of commercial honor and just and equitable principles of trade. The complaint alleges that each of the respondents solicited indications of interest for a common stock by falsely representing that the company would be selling the stock through an IPO, failed to conduct an adequate inquiry into the company before recommending purchase of the security to public customers, and recklessly disregarded publicly available information that indicated the shares were not being offered through an IPO. The complaint also alleges that the respondents made baseless and improper price predictions and assurances of success about the stock. The complaint further alleges that Faber made unsuitable recommendations to a public customer and made unsuitable transactions in her account in light of her investment objectives, financial situation, and needs. In addition, the complaint alleges that Myler failed to pay an NASD arbitration award. (NASD Case #CAF010009)

(CRD #20016, Deerfield Beach, Florida), and Glen Thomas Vittor (CRD #1565323, Registered Principal, Deerfield Beach, Florida) were fined $1 million, jointly and severally. In addition, the firms were expelled from NASD membership and Vittor was barred from association with any NASD member in any capacity. The sanctions were based on findings that the respondents effected short sales for the firms' own accounts and failed to make an affirmative determination that the firms could borrow the securities or otherwise provide for delivery of the securities by the settlement date. The findings also stated that the respondents, in cooperation with others, attempted to obtain stock at below-market prices through the use of threats and coercion, and that, through naked short sales and extortion, the respondents participated in a manipulation of the market for those securities. (NASD Case #CAF980002)

Michael DiFrancesca (CRD #2315616, Registered Representative, East Northport, New York) was fined $25,000, barred from association with any NASD member in any capacity, and ordered to pay $386,114.78, plus interest, in restitution to public customers. The sanctions were based on findings that DiFrancesca effected transactions in the accounts of public customers without their authorization. Without admitting or denying the allegations, Wren consented to the described sanctions and to the entry of findings that he engaged in fraudulent sales practices in disregard of his obligation of fair dealing and commercial honor with respect to customers. The NASD found that Wren made a specific price prediction about a speculative security being sold without an adequate, accurate, or reasonable basis in fact. The findings also stated that Wren refused to execute a customer's sell orders.

Wren's suspension began May 21, 2001, and will conclude at the close of business June 19, 2001. (NASD Case #CAF000043)

VTR Capital, Inc. n.k.a Fairchild Financial Group, Inc. (CRD #21404, New York, New York) and Edward Joseph McCune (CRD #1316826, Registered Principal, Haines City, Florida) were named as respondents in an NASD complaint alleging that the respondents failed to disclose, or caused the firm's registered representatives to fail to disclose, to public customers material information in connection with the offer, sale, or recommendation of common stock including that they had purchased a very large quantity of shelf-registered shares from the selling security holders at a low price and that they were recommending and reselling the shares to the firm's customers at much higher prices. The complaint also alleges that as a result of the respondents' actions, the available public float was increased substantially, the resales presented an immediate and substantial risk of dilution, and the resales constituted a separate or secondary offering requiring an amended or supplemental prospectus. The complaint alleges that by virtue of this conduct, the firm and McCune knowingly or recklessly employed devices, schemes, or artifices to defraud; made untrue statements of material facts or omitted to state material facts necessary in order to make the statements made, in light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading; or engaged in acts, practices, or courses of business that operated, or would have operated, as a fraud or receipt upon any persons in connection with the purchase or sale of securities. In addition, the complaint alleges that the firm, acting through McCune, failed to file information and documents regarding the proposed terms of the secondary offering of the shares with the NASD. Furthermore, the complaint alleges that the firm, acting through McCune, participated in the secondary offering of the shares in which the underwriting compensation exceeded the maximum permissible under NASD guidelines. The findings also stated that the firm failed to display immediately customer limit orders in Nasdaq securities in its public quotation, when each such order was at a price that would have improved the firm's bid or offer for each such security, or when the order was priced equal to the firm's bid or offer and the national best bid or offer for each such security, and the size of the order represented more than a de minimis change in relation to the size associated with the firm's bid or offer in each such
